

Emergency Swamps WU Office Here

THOUSANDS OF residents of this area depended on Western Union telegraph for outside communication during the present disaster.

According to F. B. Brown, Philadelphia, district superintendent for WU offices in Stroudsburg, Easton, Allentown and Scranton nearby, 100,000 telegrams have been handled in the one-week period ending tonight.

Brown said the telegraph load from Stroudsburg office alone was more than 15 times the normal number of wires handled. The total for the entire area was more than triple the normal load, he said.

Largest Load In History

The superintendent said the mountain of wires was the largest volume ever handled in this area in the company's history. Within a few hours after the first emergency notice was received, Brown arrived in Stroudsburg with employees from Allentown, Easton, Trenton, Princeton and New York to supplement local forces.

The local employees were already swamped by a swollen volume of incoming and outgoing wires. Brown said, however, that they had handled the situation in a speedy, efficient manner.

Additional trunk circuits were installed after hard-pressed maintenance men were able to string temporary lines. Within a couple of hours the expanded volume exceeded 15 times the normal telegraph traffic at the office, Brown said.

"Don't Worry . . ."

Most of the messages were simple expressions of assurance from persons in this area or anxious pleas for information from those on the outside who had friends or relatives in the region.

The tenor of the messages reflected the changing atmosphere as time went on. From incoming queries reading: Are you safe?, the majority began to read: We're all right. Don't worry.

By Friday night, WU was being assisted by an army of local teenagers and other citizens who served as messengers in getting incoming wires to homes and resorts in the area. "Their knowledge of the highways—and even more important, the remote by-ways and side roads of the county—insured delivery of messages as much as was humanly possible," Brown said.

Return Trip

When they returned to the office, most of the messengers were loaded down with tersely-written replies.

Some of the incoming messages were addressed to persons who had been evacuated from their homes in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. For this reason, some messengers spent large parts of the night searching for the homeless men and women for whom the wires were designated, Brown said.

A large number of telegrams were routed from this area to offices in Pottsville and Wilkes-Barre by way of helicopter transport, he said.

Vending Machine Goes On Spree

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 25 (AP)—A woman hit the jackpot in an automatic milk vending machine today.

Putting a quarter into the machine for a quart of milk, Mrs. Albert Van Kotten of Erskine Lakes drew out 38 quarts, one after another.

She kept the quart she was entitled to and returned the other 37 to the milk company.

Workers' Names Added

A LARGE NUMBER of volunteers worked with the Stroud Township firemen to construct a bridge linking Route 611 with Pocono Park vicinity. In addition to those mentioned previously were Calvin Frantz, Jake Marsh, Edward Heller, Curtis Roth and J. Albertson Jr.

OLD STONE BRIDGE, a landmark in the Angels section of Wayne County, felt the full brunt of the flood when this tributary of Wallenpaupack Creek reached record heights. Raging flood waters ripped away one section of the bridge. One-way traffic is being maintained. (Staff Photo By Carlton)

Borough Homes, Stores Suffered $5,000,000 Flood Loss

East Borough Figure Not Yet Determined

SOME $5,000,000 damage was caused to Stroudsburg homes and business places, according to a rough estimate furnished by a financial expert of the Federal Small Business Administration.

R. P. Yomer, who provided the figure, and Howard Donovan have set up a temporary SBA office in the Chamber of Commerce building to handle requests for emergency loans.

Yomer said he toured Stroudsburg last Saturday and indications then were that some 300 dwellings and 100 business establishments were damaged by the floods.

"A more specific figure can be furnished," Yomer said, "after the debris has been cleared away."

E. S. Figure Later

The financial expert said he has not investigated losses in East Stroudsburg as yet.

Yomer said his office received about 40 inquiries yesterday, and many persons took out applications for loans. The majority of inquiries came from small businessmen whose stores were damaged by the floods.

In explaining the purpose of his agency, Yomer said the SBA will provide loans to rehabilitate or rebuild homes and business places. Properties will be restored to as good condition as they were before the disaster.

However, he explained that SBA will not permit a home-owner to put up a $15,000 dwelling if his pre-flood home was valued at $10,000.

May Build Elsewhere

"But home-owners don't have to rebuild in the same place," he stressed. "They may build elsewhere if it would be more advantageous, or safer."

Yomer emphasized the Federal agency is not in competition with the banks. Loans are made only in those instances where the home-owner or businessman cannot obtain credit through other channels.

Two types of loans are offered: (1) Ten-year loans for the rehabilitation of damaged property and (2) 20-year loans for replacement of buildings which were completely demolished.

In either case, Yomer said, the interest rate is three per cent.

Loans—Not Grants

He said SBA will make loans on the most sympathetic basis possible. But applicants must realize they are loans—not grants.

In some cases where an individual cannot obtain sufficient collateral, Yomer explained SBA may work with the Red Cross for rehabilitation or reconstruction.

In such cases, SBA may try to determine if the Red Cross can make a grant so that it can write up "a reasonable loan," Yomer explained.

Yomer said efforts will be made to spread out payments as thin as possible so that the spending power of the home-owner or businessman won't be diminished too drastically.

VISIT BY MATTISON — Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison, state secretary of health, toured the disaster area in the Stroudsburgs yesterday afternoon. Rehabilitation Aid Started By Red Cross

MONROE COUNTY Red Cross today expects to commence the rehabilitation part of its aid to more than 500 county families.

That number of families has registered for aid, both for mass care and for rehabilitation, according to Dan Bachman of Alexandria, Va., Red Cross director for the 16-state northeastern district.

Mr. Bachman, who yesterday was helping East Stroudsburg Red Cross activities in the Waring Building, said that it will be "quite some time before we will be able to reach all the families registered for rehabilitation."

Outright Gifts

The rehabilitation will consist in replacement of household furnishings, repair and rebuilding of houses, medical and nursing assistance and the replacement of tools and other equipment used in gaining a livelihood.

All these goods and services will be outright gifts to those receiving them, the Red Cross is emphasizing.

Right now, Mr. Bachman said, there is a need for rental housing. "Anybody with apartments or houses to rent should get in touch with our shelter chairman, Arlie Williams in Stroudsburg," he said.

With 500 families registered for rehabilitation, the area director said, it will be impossible to serve all at once. A priority system is being set up, he said.

Order of Priority

Thus, the first to be given rehabilitation service will be the elderly, Mr. Bachman said, followed by the sick and injured; families where problems have arisen because of the death of the wage-earner, and other cases of diminishing severity.

The first phase of Red Cross work—mass care—has served at least 2,500 persons, the director estimated. In addition, Red Cross fed about 500 volunteer workers.

Red Cross, too, now has complete charge of the community of 250 persons who were yesterday evacuated as a health and safety measure from their homes in Anaslomink to Camp William Penn.

"Our readiness for second-phase rehabilitation, of course, doesn't mean we're through with the first phase," Mr. Bachman said.

"But we now have enough clothing to meet our need. Persons who wish to donate clothing for the stricken would do better to hold off now, since storage of surplus clothing is becoming a problem. If and when we need more clothing, we'll issue an appeal," he said.

Five Persons Enroll To Vote

FIVE PERSONS registered for voting lists last night in Polk and Eldred Townships. The special registration is being carried out by clerks of the county commissioners' office.

At Polk Township, two Republicans and two Democrats registered. At Eldred only one person registered. It was a Republican.

State Health Chief Visits Stroudsburgs

DR. BERWYN Mattison, state secretary of health, toured Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg yesterday to get a first-hand impression of the disaster area hit by flood.

Accompanied by other State officials and local health workers, Mattison began a five-point series of stops at Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

In the church basement he visited the temporary infirmary and commended workers for their spirit. From the church, Mattison was taken to the site of the State bridge between the two boroughs. The bridge was washed out by the flood.

Watching The Work

The State official was then conducted through the immediate disaster area in the First and Second St. sections of the borough.

Mattison looked on as weary residents of Lower Main St. and side streets shoveled and heaved mud from the bottom floors of their houses and businesses.

He was then taken to Stokes Mill past the water pumping station and across the temporary bridge into East Stroudsburg. In that borough the path of the tour went down Courtland St. into the heavily-devastated regions left by the flood near the "Flats section" of Day St. and Lenox Ave.

Confers At Hospital

At Monroe County General Hospital, Mattison conferred with officials and members of the hospital staff. The health secretary centered most of his discussion on preventive medicine.

From the hospital the official party returned to Stroudsburg. From this area, Mattison went to Easton and other regions in the Delaware Valley area.

Arthur Slee, medical coordinator for CD in this area, said that Mattison "was apparently pleased with the way in which things were going here."

Emergency Period Ends

Comstock said in addition to cleanup the engineers will aid in restoration of sewer and water systems, borough and township roads where funds are not available and will also be concerned with restoration of stream channels and dams which were holding back streams, but are now torn out. They will do no work on federally aided or state highways.

Chief Burgess Harris, Chief Burgess Flory and C. R. Bensinger representing the Red Cross all praised the work done by Civil Defense.

Mr. Bensinger said the Red Cross work had a long way to go and that without CD what has been achieved would have not been so effective.

Stroudsburg Water System Not Yet Restored For Drinking, Or Cooking

The Stroudsburg water supply system owned by Monroe County Water Company has been improved, BUT NOT TO THE POINT WHERE THE WATER CAN BE USED FOR COOKING PURPOSES.

There is no doubt that this system will be restored. Army Engineers out of the Philadelphia district office have given the restoration project a terrific shot in the arm. They make no promises they don't fulfill and when they make a statement that's that. There's no question about any doubts.

Citizens of the area served by the Stroudsburg system will be properly and progressively notified as the restoration progresses. And, of course, when the system is restored for full use that will be made known.

Right now it is most important to remember that Stroudsburg water cannot be consumed or used in preparation of food.

Continue to boil your water at least 20 minutes.

Movement Out Of Emergency Conditions Toward Normalcy Requires Continued Effort

The period of emergency services in the flood stricken areas is beginning to move slowly out of that state in various troubled spots brought on by Thursday's disastrous flood.

As this transition takes place the burden of completing the task falls back on local authorities, who will still have the assistance of every agency in here for the big phase of the emergency.

For instance: The National Guard units which did such a tremendous job of policing, assisting in traffic control and a score of other vital tasks will leave here Sunday, unless some unusual emergency arises which would cause Gov. George M. Leader to reverse that situation.

Local municipal authorities are preparing to move in their own policing, augmented, of course, by additional special officers and other assistance.

The Army engineers are here with all their vast powers and skills. They are not wasting time. They are restoring order and a degree of cleanliness by removing debris in a vast cleanup of flood stricken areas.

They are restoring Stroudsburg's water system to a more stable basis. They are moving in on the sewage treatment works, repairing municipal roads and municipally owned bridges by letting contracts to contractors on a cost-plus basis at no cost to the municipality.

From time to time, especially in the cleanup phases of streets, alleys, homes and backyards in the stricken areas, announcements will be made to householders. They should cooperate with all possible speed.

The Red Cross is still functioning with all its experts—standing by with emergency shelter, if needed; food setups for feeding people where needed.

Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg councils, the County of Monroe, many boards of township supervisors are working with Army Engineers.

In each of these instances, the municipal forces are prepared to carry through with the tasks remaining as well as assist in the current problems.

Paramount in this whole picture—even after the heart and backbreaking effort already expended—is to press on with vigor, patience and complete fearlessness.

The trend now is back to normalcy—but not without absolute cooperation and faith in each other and in God—just as it has been through the worst of this disaster.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Navy Handling Of Landy Case Stupid, Inept Acceptance Of "Commie" Principle

Three principles are involved in the case of Eugene William Landy which cannot be ignored no matter how the Navy eventually decides the matter.

Principle No. 1. Eugene Landy went into the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island, in 1931. Surely, there was a screening of his record as there always is. We do not here have a Major Peress Case in which the Army was totally negligent and then tried to cover up. By sometime in 1932, the Navy knew all about this boy and his mother.

Nothing was said to the boy about his being unfit because he was born of the wrong mother. He was permitted to go on, to make a brilliant record, to win prizes, to come out second in his class.

Then the Navy, on graduation day, takes the brutal action of refusing him the reward for his work. This is inept, inefficient and from a moral standpoint, altogether improper handling of a human being. This is wrecking the life of a citizen, not for his own conduct, but for his mother's.

Principle No. 2. Landy is being held responsible for the conduct of his mother. That is a Communist, not an American practice. The American philosophy of life is that each individual stands alone before God and the law, accountable for his own conduct, responsible only for himself.

The foundation of personal responsibility before God is to be found in a famous passage in Ezekiel:

"Yet say ye, Why? doth not the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my statutes, and hath done them, he shall surely live."

"The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him."

Herein lies the moral basis for judgment in the Landy Case in a country whose philosophy of life is presumably based on the Natural Law as revealed to man by God. Or does the Navy have nothing to do with God?

In China, even in imperial days, entire families were wiped out because of the turpitude of one member of it. In Soviet Russia, wives and children are held as hostages for the head of the family and are enslaved or killed.

We have criticized the Communists for such conduct. We have denounced them as anti-Christian for adopting the ancient tribal view of the responsibility of the group rather than of the individual. We dare not, if our survival is to be worth while, recede from the progress that Western Christian Civilization has made since Cain murdered Abel.

Principle No. 3. It is a total negation of the morality of the family to expect a son to denounce his father or his mother. The Commandment says: "Honor thy Father and thy Mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." In the story of Noah, the morals of the Hebrews are most strongly symbolized in the conduct of Ham gazing upon the nakedness of his father, Noah, who was drunk. The Hebrew moral is that even if a parent is evil, it is not the function of his son to shame his father or mother. This law of life is inviolable if we are to have an organized society on a moral basis.

We have criticized and attacked Communist society for using children as spies upon their parents. We have denounced the Russians for encouraging children to advance themselves in the Komsomol by "confessing" to the conduct of their parents. Yet, in effect, that is precisely what we ask Landy to do about his mother. It is a total negation of Hebrew-Christian morality and who ever is responsible for even questioning a son about his mother, in this respect, is unworthy to hold public office in our society.

How long are we to be cursed by the ineptitude and stupidity of amateurs in the field of opposition to Communism? How long will it take our government to learn that Communism is not to be fought by adopting the morals of Lenin and Stalin?

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

By H. I. Phillips

The boating season is at a peak and never have so many been so much at sea with so few ideas of their whereabouts.

The appeal of yachting rests in the two simple words "Get lost!" More people own boats than ever before. The two-boat family is no rarity.

rush to get away from land traffic is creating water traffic of serious proportions. Many a harbor needs traffic lights. The Yacht Club, for generations a place to "go and get away from it all" has become as hectic as a subway station. Once upon a time only the rich had yachts, but today many a man runs a motor-sailor on Social Security.

The urge to go some place where there are no dead-end streets, tunnel tie-ups, traffic cops and police whistles is tremendous. The yachtsman may not go far but he goes without dust, cinders, roadblocks and curses from fellow travelers. He may not know where he is going and get lost on his way home, but he has no parking problems. Even if he has lost his chart and can't read a compass, he can keep cool, shake up another cocktail easily and feel sure that, no matter what happens, there will be no sounds of crashing bumpers and cries of "Where did you learn to drive?"

A yacht is more expensive than an auto, but it gives you more promise of keeping your health. It is more trouble to maintain and operate, but it affords the privilege of wearing a white cap without being mistaken for the Good Humor vendor. (A yachting cap is in fact one of the prize attractions of boat owning. If you put on a funny costume to drive an auto you can get arrested for blocking traffic, but on the water or at the dock it is considered perfectly okay to look comical.)

On the road if liquor is found in your car you can lose your license. On the water you can lose prestige if you don't carry any. Autoists are supposed to keep sober. With yachtsmen it is optional. We give you the Yacht Club lexicon:

My America

—by Harry Boyd

People Underestimating Demands For Energies

People make a lot of trouble for themselves by trying to use only as much energy as circumstances demand and consistently underestimating the demand.

I am embarrassed repeatedly by this weakness when thrown with people I don't know very well. Fellow comes up smiling, says hello and starts a conversation.

Then I have a hard time holding up my end of the chat because my mind is busy trying to place him. I know I've met him before but I can't think of his name.

The reason I can't think of it is that I never really heard it. Undoubtedly when I met him before I didn't put enough emphasis on my listening. Probably I figured I'd never see him again and if I did I could sneak around and ask somebody who he was.

That's the kind of people you inevitably do meet again. And always after you greet them like long-lost friends, say "HOW ARE YOU?" and then can't find anybody around to ask.

If you'd paid attention the first time, instead of just letting your motor idle, you wouldn't get in those fixes.

I know a fellow named Bowkowsky as well as I know my own brother. So far as I know he is only a face on a high-pressure memory expert's flashcard. I don't recall the face but, believe me, that name is familiar, and always will be.

That's because the expert who was teaching this memory course saw to it that when he gave us the name we heard it, and heard it good.

A couple of weeks ago I had another lesson of the same kind, only in reverse. An after-luncheon speaker suddenly pointed at me and asked me if I'd stand up. I did, stooping a little so some might not see how silly I looked.

Then he asked if the chair I'd been sitting in looked the same to me as the other chairs in the room. I glanced at it over my shoulder and said yes.

"Look at it again," he said. "Pick it up, turn it upside down, examine it carefully. Tell me if it looks the same as the other chairs here."

So I went through the motions, my mind concentrated meanwhile on trying to guess what the gag was, and said yes again.

"No. Now, I want you to examine it very carefully," he said. "Look it all over."

It was only then that I saw the folded dollar bill sticking out like a sore thumb from under the seat.

After all the time my old city editor spent trying to pound that "Who? What? When? Where? How?" stuff into my head!

It would be interesting to know how much of a lifetime a person uses up doing over what he could just as well have done right in the first place.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A superior volume of funny cartoons (Dutton) is entitled, "What's Funny About That?" Typical of the contents: A sheik emerging from a Moroccan preview of "The Eternal Triangle," exclaiming, "I don't get it. Why didn't he just marry both of them?"; a Zulu chief complaining to an unsatisfactory wife, "I wish I had my goat and seven hens back!"

In an appendix Demon Investigator Leslie Leiber has real news for cartoonists: Not a cannibal in the past two centuries has stewed a missionary; no school on record has used a dunce cap in years (a New York teacher explains "our school system makes no budgetary provisions for dunce caps"); the only time the cops see a man with a black mask is when the mystery guest appears on "What's My Line?" and any Indian heard saying anything remotely resembling "Ugh" is forthwith labeled a cornball and relegated to the waxworks.

New Friendship Policy May Bring More Visas

Washington — The United States may relax travel restrictions on Soviet citizens here if the USSR follows through with its new friendship policy and does the same for Americans in Russia.

At present 27 per cent of America's land area is off limits to Russians—a result of what the State department calls "security and reciprocity."

At least 30 per cent of the Soviet Union's land area is barred to traveling Americans, and the Kremlin will have to make more of this accessible before the United States makes sightseeing easier for Russians.

Of course, areas involving national security—such as atomic energy and military installations—would remain barred to foreigners in both countries.

The State department at present is lenient to the extent that it will allow Soviet citizens into "closed areas for legitimate reasons. An example was the Russian drama critic who was permitted to attend the American Shakespeare festival theater at Stratford, Conn.

A hint of further easing of restrictions on both sides came in the treatment accorded Russian farm officials who toured the United States and American agriculturalists who visited Russia.

Another indication has been the greater readiness of the Russians to give visas to Americans. This is looked upon as a possible harbinger of increased East-West travel.

Curtain Up—If Washington needs another bit of evidence that the Iron Curtain is lifting, it came in the announcement that Rep. Pat Hillings (R), California, would be allowed to visit both Russia and four satellite countries.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon pointed out that Hillings, who represents Nixon's home district, is one of the leading anti-Communist House Members.

Hillings officially is investigating the refugee problem in Europe. Then he's going on to Moscow and has been cleared for Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Romania. All this against a background of outspoken criticism of Red subversion, at home and abroad, for which the congressman has been noted.

Happy Victory — A. B. (Happy) Chandler's triumph in the Kentucky gubernatorial primary had far more than statewide significance. The Democratic party's national leadership was deeply involved.

Chandler's victory was a rebuff to Acting Senate Democratic Leader Earle C. Clements and to Senator Alben W. Barkley, both of whom declared their opposition to his bid for the nomination.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn was in the picture, too. Rayburn, in the closing days of the congressional session, pushed for action on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal controls.

Clements didn't want the Senate to act on the bill. He feared it would precipitate a fight big enough to keep the Senate in session long beyond the adjournment deadline. Clements wanted Congress to quit so he could go home and campaign against Chandler.

But Rayburn was adamant, and some Democrats say he deliberately prolonged the session a few days just to put Clements on the spot.

The natural gas bill did not come up in the Senate but Clements was prevented from leaving Washington until too late for him to influence the Kentucky primary.

Rayburn's friends say the speaker harbors a hope for the unusual juxtaposition of adjournment in 1956. Political insiders believe he has picked up a powerful ally in Chandler.

The government is stepping up its drive against Federal Housing administration's post-war apartment program.

FHA officials say they are getting ready to take control of "a number" of the projects which figured in last year's housing investigation by the Senate banking committee.

The action is designed to force the builders to pay back their profits and reduce the government risk on the FHA-insured mortgages.

Meanwhile, federal grand juries have been meeting in various parts of the country in an effort to determine whether criminal violations are involved in the FHA scandals.

Officials say there is a possibility that indictments will be returned in the near future. Some Democrats are wondering, however, whether the Eisenhower administration may try to delay any prosecution until the 1956 election year.

The banking committee is continuing a quiet probe of the FHA.

Chairman John Sparkman (D), Ala., says he has no immediate plans for new public hearings.

If the Senate group turns up new evidence of wrongdoing, it is expected to postpone disclosure of its findings until next year, when such material would add fuel to the political fires lit by election-year controversy.

State Driver Education

—by H. G. Heller

Ten States, led by Minnesota, have been selected to receive the nation's top awards for the extent and quality of their driver education programs conducted during the 1954-55 school year. The selections were made by 12 educational and traffic safety leaders comprising the board of judges of the Eighth Annual National High School Driver Education Award Program.

After examining reports from all 48 states and the District of Columbia, the judges selected Minnesota and Massachusetts to receive top-ranking Awards of Excellence. Awards of Honor were earned by California, Delaware, New York, Oklahoma and Vermont, while three states, Arizona, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, qualified for Awards of Merit.

In addition, special Honorable Mention Awards were authorized for the states of Connecticut, Kansas, New Mexico and Ohio. The judges also instructed that Special Progress Awards be given to the public schools in and Washington and that Special Citations for Driver Education Attainment be given to the private and parochial schools in Colorado, Mississippi, Montana, Delaware, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Vermont.

Thomas N. Boate, manager of the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, which sponsors the officially authorized program, said that typical of the criteria used in evaluating the state programs were percentage of eligible students enrolled in driver courses, number of hours of behind-the-wheel practice driving and percentage of high schools in which driver education was taught.

Mr. Boate stated that, "after several years of leveling off, states this year reported a significant increase in their driver education programs. It is to be hoped that this indicates a trend toward further expansion of the nationwide program. During the 1954-55 school year 9,968, or 50 percent of the public high schools in the nation, offered driver education courses and enrolled 994,212 students, or 62 percent of the total potential enrollment."

Cleanup Squads Start Work After Analomink Is Evacuated

THE 300 RESIDENTS of Analomink were perhaps the most photographed group in the nation yesterday.

Two television networks—NBC and ABC—sent cameras into Camp William Penn to put them on telecasts coast to coast.

Men of the 109th Infantry moved the entire community with what remained of bag and baggage, to the camp, about 20 miles away, Wednesday night.

Remain One Week

Red Cross officials said the evacuees probably will remain there a week. The Salvation Army teamed with the Red Cross to provide meals and help in the general welfare work.

Cleanup squads, meanwhile, started to work on the village itself, which is only a short distance from the Davis cottage colony where more than 30 persons perished in last week's flood.

The population was moved from its homes along Route 90 north of East Stroudsburg to the camp because the merciless Brodheads Creek flood had left the area unfit for habitation, due to lack of water and sewage facilities.

"When the need arose to move the people out of Analomink, we used the camp which Philadelphia had so graciously put at our disposal," Dan Bachman, northeast U.

500 Children Leave Camps For Homes

THE STATE Civil Defense "Operation Kidlift" was grounded yesterday.

Dr. Richard Gerstell, State CD director, told a press conference in Harrisburg it looked as though Summer camps would use their own transportation to get children out of flood-fringe areas.

"At first we thought State aid would have to be given to bring at least 10,000 of the children from the camps—but now it looks like they will come out under their own power," Gerstell said.

As of last night, Gerstell said, the State had evacuated about 500 children from the camps.

Evacuation Plans

The State had previously indicated it would evacuate all of the estimated 10,000 children in camps all over Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Before CD plans were announced for evacuation, most Summer camps which intended to remove children from their areas in Monroe County had already indicated they would do so.

Most of the camps intending to evacuate have already carried out their project. A number of the camps have indicated they will finish out the regular portion of their season. Many were unaffected by the flood and are now in the process of having their facilities checked by authorities.

Starner Funeral Rites Conducted

FUNERAL SERVICES were held at 2 p.m. yesterday in Gantzhorn funeral home for Edith M. Starner. Burial was made in St. John's Cemetery, Bartonsville with Rev. John Bergstresser officiating.

Pallbearers were Samuel Dunbar, Howard Detrick, Arch Ace, William Stout, Robert Reaser and Lewis Pente.

S. Red Cross director, said yesterday.

"The Philadelphia newspapers gave the Analomink story a big play, and the TV people picked it up from there," he said.

PP&L Gives $50,000 To Red Cross

THE BOARD of Directors of Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. has authorized a contribution of $50,000 to Red Cross Chapters in its service area for flood relief. The announcement was made yesterday by Charles E. Oakes, president and director of the company, following the monthly meeting of the board in the general office in Allentown. The resolution as approved by the utility's directors states that the money is to be used "in giving aid to persons in this company's service area who are in need of assistance as the result of the flood."

The utility company action was motivated by the many personal tragedies as well as the heavy destruction of property that befell many customers in its service area.

Response To Appeal
"PP&L," Mr. Oakes said, "considers itself a citizen of the communities it serves. Such citizenship provides the opportunity to make this needed contribution beyond normal obligation of maintaining and restoring electric service."

The flood relief contribution by PP&L comes on the heels of an urgent Red Cross appeal for funds for relief in the disaster areas of the Northeast as well as a re-

2000 Cases Of Juices Contributed

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 25—Mayor George E. Brunner of this city yesterday turned over to the Red Cross 2000 cases of Campbell's V-8 Vegetable Juices to be shipped to the flood disaster areas.

With the water supply suspect or polluted, wholesome beverages are a prime need of the disaster-stricken areas.

The 2000 cases of vegetable juices are being delivered to Hartford, Conn., Stroudsburg, Scranton and Easton, Pa.

Three trucking firms are delivering the juices without charge: Rodgers Motors Lines Inc., Scranton, Pa.; Modern Transfer Co., Inc., Allentown, Pa.; and Hemingway Brothers Interstate Trucking Co., New Bedford, Mass.

Echelon Airlines of Ashland, N. J., offered to fly some of the juices to any point in the flood-stricken area that the Red Cross might designate.

quest by President Eisenhower for the nation to "pitch-in" and help.

Barrett YMCA Plans Benefit

BARRETT YMCA will sponsor two motion-picture shows Saturday to add to the Barrett Welfare Fund for use in the flood emergency.

The show will consist of four cartoons at 2 and 7:30 p. m. Saturday. Admission will be 15 cents a person regardless of age.

Americans have far more fatal accidents in summer than in any other season.

The face of things is gradually assuming a normal appearance—but not, in many cases, the faces of people. Pearl Walter of our cosmetics department, has been flooded (that dreadful word again) by the requests of women who demand to know, "What on earth is happening to me?—My makeup is grotesque and I just don't look like myself any more."

Pearl's explanation is that most of us have been overdoing, these past few days. Since disaster hit, we've been going from our jobs to relief headquarters... we haven't had enough sleep and, in many cases, our food has been inadequate and our diet poorly balanced. Nerves, fatigue, a lack of water and vitamins have combined to make skins sallow, blotchy, and "different". The color tone has changed too, usually for the worse. So Pearl is selling her baffled customers shades of powder, rouge and lipstick they had never dared wear before.

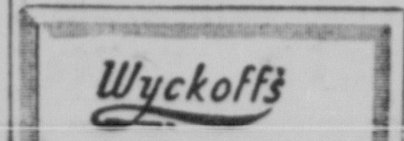

You wouldn't think disaster could be responsible for this subtle havoc unless you have really looked in a mirror lately. If you haven't, maybe you should—you may find someone staring back whom you hardly recognize at all... someone who is vaguely familiar, in the way of an old school chum whom you haven't seen for twenty years or so.

It was fairly hectic at WVPO during the days of the emergency, and truly remarkable the way the station's regular staff directed the hordes of willing volunteers who worked around the clock. Not until Tuesday night did things quiet down there to the point that Chester Miller, station manager, said the Wyckoff Shopper program could be resumed. "We're going back on our regular schedule Thursday," Chet informed us, "but the Shopper program could begin tomorrow if you'd like."

Checking with J. L. Kerlin, Wyckoff's general manager, we received a hearty and confident, "Then get back tomorrow—the sooner the better. Let's settle back to normal in every way as soon as possible."

This, of course, is Mr. Kerlin's attitude, and the Wyckoff policy, in every phase of merchandising during the emergency... let's be as normal as possible under abnormal conditions, and completely normal just as soon as it can be achieved. Through the entire crisis, Wyckoff's has been proceeding pretty much as usual. Each day brings some of the East Stroudsburgers (and their Stroudsburg guests who were marooned along with them) back to our selling floor and offices; each day finds a few more departments swinging back into regular routine. Just yesterday, for instance, our display department began changing things around and prettifying us up, in keeping with our optimistic outlook on the future. Each day also finds us serving more and more customers.

As I said before, the face of things is gradually settling back into a normal, cheerful expression. We at Wyckoff's thank God for the resilience of human nature... the courage of the human heart... and the indomitable spirit of progress that have combined to make this possible.

News Reaches England

THE NAME of the Stroudsburgs and their plight was broadcast far and wide. Yesterday Mrs. James Hagerty, Scott St., received a letter from her aunt in England, inquiring anxiously about the family's welfare. The aunt had heard the news over the BBC.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Gilbert Fair Scheduled Next Week

GILBERT—The 34th annual West End Fair will operate this year with showings the night of August 30 and all day and the night of August 31, Maurice Kresge, president of the fair association, said yesterday.

In fact, the grounds are already starting to fill up with displays of farm machinery and equipment by various dealers and manufacturers.

Mr. Kresge said blacktop approaches have been built at both ends of the big midway.

All electrical switches and meters have been concentrated on a new concrete block building.

Tables Replaced

Ticket booths at fair entrances lost in past storms have been replaced.

One of the big improvements in fair buildings is elimination of display tables. All display will now be on a bleacher-type system permitting more extensive display and greater access for people who pass through the buildings.

Other officers of the fair are Lloyd Mackes, Brodheadsville, vice president; Edward C. Doney, Kunkietown RD2, secretary; LeRoy Hinton, Gilbert, assistant secretary and Arlington D. Smith, Kunkietown RD1, treasurer.

Pvt. Grable Graduates At Army School

PVT. JOHN R. GRABLE, 20, whose guardian, Ella M. Henning, lives at 1222 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg recently was graduated from the Infantry School's wheeled vehicle maintenance course at Fort Benning, Ga.

The course trains personnel in maintenance of military motor vehicles used by infantry units. Students are taught the use of field expedients, driver training methods, and maintenance operations under adverse conditions.

Private Grable entered the Army last January and completed basic training at Camp Rucker, Ala. He was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1953.

Rain Makers

KAPUSKASING, Ont., Aug. 25 (AP)—While the eastern United States is recovering from record flood damage, the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co. plans to start rain-making operations this week. This has been one of the driest summers in years hereabouts and 60,000 acres of bush are reported burning away.

Aug. 25 (AP)—Ontario scouts at the World Boy Scout Jamboree here taught scouts from British Guiana how to play volleyball. Then they played a formal game. British Guiana won.

European death rates are lower than ever before in spite of hardships of World War II which could have lowered the vitality of some residents.

Laboratories Report Damage To Grounds

SWIFTWATER — Damage at the National Drug Co. laboratories here was worse on the grounds and road than in the buildings. No animals were lost.

Workers called in early by the night watchman were able to get small animals and tests up and many doors plugged before the main flood broke. Russell Knerr, director, and his family, who live on the grounds, evacuated to higher ground in time for safety.

Men and women worked on Friday cleaning up debris and pushing mud out of the buildings. Men working all weekend succeeded in getting a bridge rebuilt by Sunday night. Prior to that they had to go about 15 miles to feed the horses in the field above the plant.

Monday morning most of the employees were on the job, and a program of production of typhoid serum was started. They received typhoid shots there Monday.

Second Story Washed Away

Hunter's Lake on the lower Swiftwater Road went out Thursday night and about two-thirds of the road was demolished. Water raised up into the first floors of houses, and several homes near the creek were washed away.

The Bittner home near the Ethel Wakefield residence was split between stories. The second story and roof, intact with furnishings, was carried down stream and deposited near the Walter Coffman home. All three bridges were washed away. The Jennings bridge on the East Swiftwater road also went, and a ditch about six feet deep was made along the cemetery at St. Paul's Reformed Church.

The lake at Mount Airy Lodge broke, and much damage was done to the grounds. Even homes on high levels had flooded cellars, rain coming in faster than drains could carry it out.

RILEY

Sports Editor

THIS COLUMN wishes to join with all others in the Stroudsburg area in extending our heart-felt condolences to the family and relatives of Jon Keifer, well known youngster who died yesterday following an accident at Pocono Bridge. Jon was known in this corner as a promising football player and a good guy. His presence will be missed in all walks of life. The accident occurred during blasting at the washed out bridge on W. Main St.

Jon was a reserve tackle on the Stroudsburg High football team last season and was a key man in Whitehead's plans for the coming campaign. His presence will be missed by all concerned, including this reporter. In regard to football, I believe that many people misunderstand the situation as it exists right now. As mentioned in this column previously, members of both the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg football teams worked long hours and at a tough pace.

They did a great deal to return the area to something like normal. It is this reporter's contention that the continuance of football practice at both schools will greatly assist in restoring things to normal. Kids of the high school age, having worked long hours, with very little sleep, are tired and not ready for further work. The shock of the entire affair has disappeared to a great extent and these youngsters are anxious to return to a normal way of life.

I believe that their presence on the practice field, once or twice a day, will keep them out of the way of labor crews and out of danger. I know that these kids will do anything else they can to help, but from this angle not too much more of the work is that to be handled by youngsters. I firmly believe that the best place for the two high school football teams is on the practice field, although I also agree entirely with a statement made by Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High.

Munson said, "Football is secondary to other people's problems and will be treated in that manner." I believe that everyone is of this opinion. But, this writer is also of the opinion that the youngsters playing football at our schools will be of more help to the community on the practice field, rather than facing the possibility of getting into trouble at various job sites.

Coach Jack Kist put his East Stroudsburg High forces through two drills yesterday and was well pleased with things after the initial workouts of the current campaign. A total of 45 boys were on hand for the 6 p. m. drill. Jack plans two practices a day until further notice, as he searches desperately for replacements which he hopes will mix with last year's lettermen to form a winning combination.

Stroudsburg would like very much to delay the opening of the coming football season if possible, due to the damage and many problems brought to the surface by the recent flood tides. It is quite possible that the contest would be played in November, if Leighton would agree to such a switch.

Captures Oriental Title

TOKYO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Jiro Savada, Japan's 17-year-old "baby of the ring," captured the Oriental lightweight title tonight with a technical knockout over again Masashi Akiyama in the fourth round of a 12-round title bout. Each weighed 132½ pounds.

Olsen Returns To Ring Action Against Giambra Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Bobo Olsen will be back in the nation's living rooms tomorrow night and figures to stay around longer than he did the last time.

Olsen, the middleweight champion, is slated for a national television date with GI Joey Giambra, a 24-year-old left hooker on furlough from the Army. The scheduled 10-round, a non-title event at the Cow Palace, goes on the air at 10 p. m. EDT over NBC.

The last time Olsen was in living rooms across the country was two months ago—and he was around for only three rounds. That was the night Archie Moore knocked him out in their light-heavyweight title clash in New York.

Statement

It'll be different tomorrow night, says the champ's manager, Sid Flaherty.

"My boy is the best at his weight in the world and he's proved it," Flaherty says. "We're not selling Giambra short. Actually, I think he's the second best middleweight around, but Bo's ready to go."

Flaherty's feeling that Giambra is good is echoed in the betting. Olsen was a 3-1 favorite on the eve of the fight.

Pocono Mountains League Postpones All-Star Contest

Playoffs To Be Charted At Meeting

A POCONO Mountains Baseball League All-Star game, scheduled for Saturday, has been cancelled, it was revealed last night by John Wernett, secretary of the circuit.

Wernett announced last night that the postponement was brought about directly by the recent flood. "Men are too tied up, with cleaning up labors in some sections of the county at this time to hold the game," Wernett said.

Uncertain

The league secretary announced that he wasn't certain whether the game would be held next month or disbanded for the season.

Wernett did relate that a meeting of circuit officials would be held sometime this week to discuss the possibility of completing the regular season games and opening the post-season playoff grind.

The All-Star game would have sent the Old Timers against the Youngsters and the game would have been played at Saylorsburg.

Braves Shade Giants, 3-2

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Milwaukee's second place Braves increased their lead over third place New York to four games today by nipping the Giants, 3-2, on Warren Spahn's six-hitter.

With one away in the seventh, Jim Hearn walked Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron. Johnny Logan singled in the first run. When Hearn walked George Crowe to load the bases he was replaced by Marv Grissom.

Roller By

Andy Pakko beat out a roller to third to drive in the tying run and Del Crandall's ground out to short brought in Logan with the winner.

The Giants scored their two runs in the fourth on a walk to Billy Gardner, Willie Mays' single, a force, and Don Mueller's two-run single to center.

Wall Among Golf Leaders

MONTREAL, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sam Snead, the old master from White Sulphur Springs, Va., came in today with a sparkling five-under-par 65 to share the lead with Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y., in the first round of the $26,800 Montreal Open.

One stroke behind the leaders were Doug Ford of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y., winner of the tournament over the same course two years ago, and Marty Furgol, of Lemont, Ill., with 66s.

Third Place

Gene Little of Palm Springs, Calif., came in with 67, alone at that figure.

Also with 68s were Fred Hawkins of St. Andrews, Ill., Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y., Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., Ted Krohl of Utica, N. Y., and Bo Winninger of Oklahoma City.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., winner of the Canadian Open at Toronto's Weston course last Saturday, wobbled on the back nine and took a 72.

Circuit Blows Power Yankees To 5-2 Verdict Over Indians Behind Coleman's Pitching

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 (AP)—Homers by Joe Collins and Andy Carey backed up rookie hurler Rip Coleman tonight as the New York Yankees tightened their grip on first place with a 5-2 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Coleman allowed the Indians only four hits until the eighth when he yielded a double and two singles, and had to have help from Bob Grim.

The double, by Ralph Kiner, led to one of the Tribe's runs. The other came in the sixth, on Al Rosen's 18th homer.

Opening a three-game series, the contest dropped the Indians two full games behind the Yankees into third place. New York leads second place Chicago by a game and a half.

The loser, Early Wynn, was chased in the second after yielding four runs.

He fed Mickey Mantle a walk to start the inning. Then Collins lifted his ninth homer of the season into the right-field stands.

Gil McDougald took a base on balls, made second on Carey's single, and touched third after Coleman walked to fill the bases. McDougald came home after "Hank" Bauer's long fly, and when Irv Noren singled through the box, Carey scored. Reliever Sal Maglie got Yogi Berra on a fly.

Pirates Nip Cubs, 2-1

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25 (AP)—Johnny O'Brien's eighth-inning single, scoring Ramon Mejias who had doubled, broke up a tie to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs tonight.

The victory was the third in a row for the Pirates and the third consecutive route - young performance by one of their going pitchers. Roy Face, winning his fourth game against four defeats, gave up eight hits.

The Pirates collected seven hits off Paul Minner, who now has an 8-8 record.

Two Hits

Johnny O'Brien, who got two of the Pirate hits, played a key role in the Pirates' first run. His fourth-inning double sent Preston Ward to third and Ward scored a moment later on an outfield fly. Ward had gotten on base on a fielder's choice.

The Cubs tied it 1-1 in the fifth. Jim Bolger crossing the plate when catcher Harding Peterson dropped a relay from the outfield on a fly ball. Bolger led off the inning with a single and reached third on Walker Cooper's single.

Redlegs Dump Bums Twice

BROOKLYN, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers lost their first doubleheader of the season tonight when the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the National League leaders 8-5 and 6-5.

After Johnny Klippstein turned back the Dodgers for the third time this year in the opener, the two clubs fought right down to the ninth of the second game with two Redlegs pitchers called upon to quell a last-gasp Brooklyn rally.

The Dodgers had tied the score at 4-4 with a three-run outburst in the seventh, but Cincinnati shoved a pair across in the ninth on three bases on balls, a pinch single by Bob Thurman and Smokey Burgess' sacrifice fly.

Rally

Art Fowler went to the Cincinnati mound to pitch the ninth, but he walked Jackie Robinson and Junior Gilliam sent him to third with a single which Wally Post fumbled. Then Joe Nuxhall replaced Fowler. Pee Wee Reese forced Gilliam, third to second, Robinson holding. When Duke Snider forced Reese at second, Robinson scored, but Nuxhall threw out Carl Furillo to end the game.

Tigers Force Bosox Into Even Break

DETROIT, Aug. 25 (AP)—Jackie Jensen became the first American Leaguer to drive in more than 100 runs this season as he led the Boston Red Sox to a 6-4 victory in the nightcap, after Detroit had registered a 6-1 win in the opening portion of a doubleheader today.

Jensen blasted a homer and single as he led the Red Sox to a "do-or-die" victory in the nightcap.

Ike Delock, with assistance from Ellis Kinder, over the last two and two-thirds innings, was the winning hurler for the fourth place Bosox, who fell five games off the hot American League pennant race by dividing the doubleheader.

Porterfield, however, wasn't around at the end. After singling in the eighth, he limped to the bag and was removed for treatment of a twisted knee. He injured it while tossing his last pitch of the seventh inning.

Advantage

Three singles—including run-producing blows by Jose Valdivia and Pete Runnels—shot the Senators ahead 2-0 in the third inning.

The Nats made it 6-1 in the fourth on a cluster of five hits. Carlos Paula led off with a double and Tom Umphlett singled him home. Valdivia's single and Eddie Yost's double accounted for two more runs.

Runnels smacked reliever Bob Keegan's first pitch into left field to score Yost. Mickey Vernon then fanned to retire the side.

Minnie Minoso collected three singles for the Sox and drove in the only run, in the third, after Nellie Fox had doubled.

Australia Favored By Draw

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—The wheel of chance rolled for Australia today and sent America's slump-ridden tennis champion, Vic Seixas, against his longtime jinx, Ken Rosewall, in tomorrow's opening singles match of the Davis Cup challenge round.

The duel is scheduled to be followed by a battle between the two countries' heaviest bombardiers—Wimbledon champion Tony Trabert of the U.S. and Australia's dynamic but erratic Lewis Hoad.

The draw was made today on the front lawn of the West Side Tennis Club by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Aussies Happy

When the secretary plucked the names of Seixas and Rosewall from the big silver bowl, grins popped on the faces of the five matches of clinch the Cup.

All three days of play will be televised in color (by NBC) starting at 2 p. m. (EDT).

A team must win three of the five matches of clinch the Cup.

The rival captains, Harry Hopman of Australia and Bill Talbert of the U.S. issued confident statements of victory.

After tomorrow's opening singles the doubles will be played on Saturday with the final singles Sunday. On Sunday, the order will be reversed with Hoad playing Seixas in the first match and Trabert meeting Rosewall in the second.

Bishop Warnecke Offers Assistance

A message offering the assistance of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem to Monroe County in its present emergency was received here yesterday by Rev. Thomas Shoemith, rector of Christ Church, Stroudsburg.

The message was signed by Rev. Frederick Warnecke, bishop of the diocese of Bethlehem.

"My heart has been deeply moved and concerned by the stories I have read in the newspapers of the destruction and loss of life caused by the flood in your area. If there is anything I or anyone in the diocese can do, please do not hesitate to call on me. Please convey my deepest sympathies to the congregation of your church."

Civil Defense To Adjust Supply Claims

CIVIL DEFENSE yesterday set up a system of reimbursing merchants who supplied clothing and other articles during the early stages of disaster relief in Stroudsburg.

At the same time, James A. Somers, defense supply chief, said that from now on all articles for Civil Defense will be obtained only on purchase order, approved and signed by a defense official.

Those who contributed defense needs up to today, Mr. Somers said, have until Sept. 2, a week from today, to file invoices with Monroe County Civil Defense headquarters.

Lehman Twp. Supervisors Make Survey

BUSHKILL — Two committees are now at work surveying the damages to township roads and private properties in Lehman Township, Pike County.

Under direction of the county Red Cross chapter, Mrs. B. H. Bensley, Mrs. Cornell Faucett and Charters Rainey, appointed by G. Wells VanCampen, will conduct the survey on private property damage.

Another survey requested by United States authorities is being made by supervisors Frank Dickson, Stewart Schoonover and Irving Courtright, assisted by Jesse Thaler and Harold Reidmiller.

VanCampen said that within the next few days, he will be able to submit a relatively accurate appraisal of damages in both fields.
